

ẸZUZU

Fan

Ẹzuzu (fans) were particularly important when it came to the comfort of the Ọba and other high-ranking individuals, such as the Iyọba. While smaller fans could be considered everyday domestic items, larger fans would have been a symbol of high status and may have had ritual importance too.

